KUANTAN: Tengku Puan Pahang Tunku Azizah Aminah Maimunah Iskandariah reminded parents to pay more attention to their children and not allow them to play in the water during the monsoon season to avoid any mishaps.

She said preparations to move out of their home should also be made, especially by those living in low-lying areas, after taking into consideration the weather condition.

"Residents in flood-prone areas should be prepared to move out and not wait until the water level rises.

"I pray that the floods this time will not be bad and that everything will be under control," she said after visiting flood victims at SK Cherating which is a flood relief

Tunku Azizah said the Regent of Pahang Tengku Abdullah Sultan Ahmad Shah, who was away in Vietnam on official business, had asked her to visit the flood victims here. — Bernama
